Hunting The

Bobwhite Quail

By: William Coggins

Late fall brings frost. Thanksgiving and the bobwhite hunting season. This small 6-8 ounce brown and buff-colored quail has been called the "ideal American game bird." It earned this reputation because coveys hold for a pointing dog, and when flushed, the dispersing birds fly only a short distance, providing the hunting opportunity to hunt "singles." Their explosive flight makes them challenging wing shot targets.

Alabama's quail population can be classified as fair to good statewide. In the past twenty years there has been a notable decline in quail populations. This can be directly attributed to changing land use patterns in our state. With the changes from small family patch farms to large farming operations, the hedgerows, fence rows and edge conditions so vital as bobwhite habitat have been removed. A reduction in quail habitat and population has resulted. Areas intensively managed to provide an abundance of high quality habitat continue to harbor excellent bobwhite populations.

The bobwhite is found throughout Alabama, and just about anyone can find a place to hunt them, either on private land, on one of the several quail hunting preserves, or on a state-operated wildlife management area. The best quail hunting probably is still on private land holdings. Gone, however, are the days when a quail hunter might expect to find a welcome to hunt anywhere his bird dog would lead. Private land in Alabama is posted by law, and written permission is required to hunt. When properly approached many landowners will give responsible quail hunters permission to hunt.

The commercial quail hunting preserves offer a wide range of services, depending on how much a hunter wants to spend. Services can vary from simply paying a fee to hunt on the property, to guide service, dog rentals, meals, lodging, and a full complement of services. These preserves offer excellent quail hunting for those who can afford the price.

Hunters without access to private land or with the funds necessary for commercial preserve hunting may choose to hunt on one of the state wildlife management areas. Most of the areas offer quail hunting. The quality ranges from fair to very good, depending on the forest management activities on the area. Harvest permits are issued on several of the areas compared quite favorably with the quail hunting found off the areas. Many of the areas could withstand more quail hunting pressure.

Happy New Year!

Health Officer Declares Rabies Epidemic In Coffee County

Dr. Ira L. Myers, state health officer, has declared that an epidemic, or epidemic, of rabies exists in 16 counties in the southeast quadrant of the state. He has requested the assistance of officials in these counties to reduce the incidence and risk of infection and to aid in control measures.

Rabies is an infectious virus disease of warm-blooded animals and man which can lead to paralysis and death. This always-fatal disease is usually spread from one infected animal to another animal or man through the saliva. Any mammal can have the disease, but most cases in Alabama are found in raccoons, skunks, bats or foxes.

The following steps are recommended for the control of rabies under existing conditions:

1. Immediate immunization of all dogs, cats and valuable livestock. State law requires that all dogs and cats over three months of age be vaccinated annually.

2. Strict control and destruction of all stray and unwanted dogs and cats in the area.

3. Avoidance of all contact with wild animals, especially raccoons, bats and foxes.

4. Immediate reporting of abnormal behavior in pets or livestock to your local veterinarian or the local health department. Be alert to any changes in an animal's behavior and notify a veterinarian at once if the animal begins foaming at the mouth, becomes vicious or agitated, or shows signs of paralysis.

Rabies can be controlled if the public obeys state laws which require pet owners to immunize their domesticated animals annually," said Dr. Wallace Birch, director of the Bureau of Epidemiology and Consultation of the Alabama Department of Public Health. "But these laws will protect you only if you and your neighbors cooperate and support them."

The Alabama Department of Public Health recommends that children be taught not to play with stray animals and be warned never to handle bats - even dead ones. Furthermore, no one should keep wild or exotic animals as pets.

Bite victims should be reported to their local health officer so that appropriate measures can be taken to quarantine or destroy the biting animal.

Red Cross Chapter Accepting Applications For SHARE

Dept. Of Education To Hold Series Of Public

Meetings In State

The Alabama Dept. of Education has announced plans to hold a series of public meetings in 19 locations across the state to update the citizens on Alabama on the progress made in implementing the improvements contained in the "Plan For Excellence."

Public meetings in the southeast Alabama area are scheduled for:

Andalusia, at Andalusia High School, on Wednesday, Jan. 30;
Dothan, at Dothan High School, on Thursday, Jan. 31.
All meetings will begin at 7:00 p.m. and conclude at 9:00 p.m.

Persons seeking to apply for emergency energy assistance should contact the Coffee Co. Chapter of the Red Cross in Enterprise for an appointment. Applications will be taken one day a week.

Project SHARE ("Service to Help Alabamians with Relief on Energy") was designed to serve emergency energy needs of Alabamians who qualify under guidelines established by an independent committee. Voluntary contributions from customers of Alabama Power Company and Alabama Gas Corporation are being administered to assist in paying energy bills of the elderly, the disabled and others on low fixed incomes who have a special need.

The Red Cross will screen applicants and make payments directly to the respective energy suppliers.

All funds contributed to Project SHARE go to those who need it. No administrative expenses are withheld by the Red Cross or the utilities.

Prominent Merchant Dies Sunday, Jan. 6

Elba lost a leading citizen Sunday when death claimed James J. Wise, who died in the local hospital shortly after noon.

Wise was a native of Elba and had operated Wise Men's Store with his mother since the death of his father in 1959 when the younger Mr. Wise was 18 years old and a student at the University of Alabama.

A strong family man and avid supporter of Elba, Mr. Wise had served on the Elba City Council from 1976 to 1980, been active in the Chamber of Commerce, active in support of the local school's academic and athletic programs. He worked almost singlehandedly to get the annual Christmas parade started, a project he continued to work closely with every year.

Funeral services were held Tuesday. (See Obituaries.)

Elba City Schools To Receive Additional State Funds

The Elba City School System will get an unexpected financial boost soon as a result of Gov. George Wallace's approval for distributing $12 million to state school systems for math, science, language arts and computer education.

The funds were set aside by the 1984 Legislature as part of the governor's Education Reform Program. The funds are divided into two grants - an $8 million formula grant and a $4 million competitive grant.

"The $8 million formula grant will be based on a school's enrollment," stated Elba Supt. John Osburn, "while the $4 million competitive grant will be disbursed on the basis of need."

The City School System will receive $14,437 from the formula grant and will also apply for a portion of the additional $4 million grant. To receive additional funding, a system must submit an application to the State Dept. of Education identifying the need and explaining how it will be met.

"There is no question that our system has a need," said Osburn. "and we will apply for a share of the funds available. I have a principal's meeting scheduled this week to identify actual areas of need, and we will then proceed with the application."

Supt. Osburn reported many systems will use the money to purchase science equipment, computer ware and materials.

The competitive grants will be on a matching basis, and the Elba system would receive $3 from the state for every $1 it was able to put up, if its application was approved.

Water & Electric Board Extends Contract With AEC

The Elba Water and Electric Board climaxed several months of study and debate Tuesday night by approving, on a 3-2 vote, to extend the present wholesale electric contract with Alabama Electric Co-op (AEC) for an additional twenty years, or until 2025. The present contract had until 2005 until expiration.

Purpose of the extension, according to AEC officials, was to allow them to borrow money from the federal Rural Electrification Administration (REA) on forty-year loans. The REA requires the long-term contracts before loaning the money over the same forty-year term. Elba was the last of 23 co-op members of AEC to sign the twenty-year extension.

Attending the meeting on behalf of the co-op was Manager Charles Lowman, Jerry Andrews, and A.G. Palamore, along with Jack Taylor of the City of Brundidge.

Present were board members Cleo Hawkins, Mickey Murdock, Jack Prescott, Gladys Yelverton and Chairman Oscar Vaughan, along with Mayor Bob English, who also serves as superintendent of the Elba Water Department.

The 3-2 vote was on a motion by Prescott and seconded by Hawkins to "approve extension of the power contract with AEC and authorize the chairman and secretary-treasurer to sign the necessary papers." The vote for the motion included those making the motion and Yelverton. Voting against the extension was Murdock, and Chairman Vaughan also asked to go on record as opposing the extension.

English, on several occasions, asked AEC representatives if they could assure Elba that in the future power from the co-op would be cheaper than buying from Alabama Power. Lowman presented figures that disagreed with those English had compiled, over the savings that would have in the past resulted from purchasing power from Alabama Power rather than AEC. He also gave several reasons he felt future purchases from AEC would be advantageous to Elba and other co-op member-owners.

Much of the discussion centered around the allocation of hydro generated power from the federal government. Presently the "preferred customer" allocation for the people of Elba is being sold to AEC under a long-term contract, and there were various opinions over the possibility of getting this allocation reassigned.

Lowman also noted that there was at least one increase in price already scheduled for this federal power (commonly called SEPA). He also noted that there was a move to increase the cost of this electricity to "fair market value" which would be a large increase. It would help the federal government balance the budget, but would cost users of power.

Lowman explained that if Elba was getting the 17 percent of its power from SEPA as proposed by English, this raise did take place, it would cause large increases in cost, while AEC only depends on SEPA for seven percent, and the cost impact would be smaller.

English presented figures indicating Elba was paying an average of 4.7 cents per KWH for electricity while Hartford was paying 3.5 cents, and both Troy and Dothan about 3.4 cents per KWH. It was pointed out that Hartford purchased from Alabama Power at 46 KV, while Elba had a 12 KV transformer. Dothan and Troy both purchase at an even larger voltage. These higher voltages cause some cheaper, Lowman said.

It was explained to the Elba utility board members that the unique power use by Elba also increased the cost; however, none present indicated any desire to give up the industrial jobs that use the electricity.

Lowman acknowledged that the co-op had had a higher cost in recent years and explained, "We had to make a decision in 1973 for increasing capacity that came on line in 1978. No one could have anticipated the oil embargo that tripled the cost of fuel and caused customers to cut back on consumption, causing us to then have excessive capacity for which we were fortunately able to find customers. However, during this time our costs were higher, but now we are in good shape and foresee no major expenditures for the next five years or so. This will put us in good competitive position."

Murdock said, "We don't know what will happen in 40 years, but personally right now I am opposed to extending the contract."

Prescott said just before making the motion to extend, "I am convinced we will be doing the people a disservice if we leave AEC."

The board also approved a two-mill KWH reduction on the electric bills to reflect the two-mill energy credit currently being received from AEC. Chairman Vaughan stated it would amount to about $4,000 a month. The credit will apply as long as it is being received from the co-op and could vary from month to month. The vote was unanimous.

Bills totaling $19,803.65 were approved for payment. This unusually high amount included $7500 for repair to sewer line pump stations.

Brainstorms.....

With Ferrin Cox

The actions of the Alabama Senate to pay themselves an $85 daily expense allowance hit a snag last week when a circuit judge in Montgomery stopped the payment until he could hold a full hearing Thursday (today). The check would cost the taxpayers $1100 for each of the thirteen days they were in recess. We accept the argument that legislators work differently than those of us who dig ditches, but we were happy to see that judge rule against the extra payment. We also wonder about the thinking of Lt. Gov. Bill Baxley when he reportedly said the law required them to take the expense money along with their regular pay. Was he playing politics or is that his official and/or personal opinion???

We have a couple of fishing stories but they are both prior to the change in the temperature. One fisherman will remain unnamed, but reported a good friend was fishing somewhere down around Samson and caught two (2) bass on the same cast. Now that report came from his fishing partner who said both fish were keeping size! The other report is from Doris Farmer, who knows the family background of every fish in the Florida streams and rivers around Black Creek. She came in one day just after returning from her Florida home and told of hauling in fish by the hundreds on wigglers. We can't give a whole lot of details, but she hooked the worms only on one end and let them dangle. Now if you have fished that area much, you probably know some of Mrs. Farmer's favorite spots, which should be a pretty good start to repeat her success.

We strongly urge area citizens to walk upstairs in the Elba courthouse and observe the work done on improving the courtroom(s). We have watched the renovation work on the courthouses of both Elba and Enterprise with amazement, but the courtroom work is even more amazing than the other work. It might be noted that the courtrooms of both Elba and Enterprise were remodeled with a grant from the State of Alabama, and the actual work was done by county employees and some jail inmates.

The U.S. and the Russians met this week to plan a meeting to do some planning! We can tell there is very little news on the international scene because of this meeting, which was only to plan a weapons control meeting for later in the year. We are not really concerned about the wording of any agreement they might sign, but the fact that they are talking will do much to control the building of more and larger weapons. The President's proposal to build some defensive weapons in space is widely criticized around Washington, but the reaction of the Russians makes us wonder aloud that the theory might be pretty good rather than stupid.

Life is fragile and we have suffered shock before upon the death of some friend and/or community leader, but the death Sunday of Jimmy Wise didn't come any easier because of previous experiences. We just don't think of people we see virtually every day being anything but permanent fixtures. While any death brings pain to the family - and this was no exception - the community has also suffered a great loss. There is no citizen of Elba - and I mean many one - who has more love and loyalty for Elba than Jimmy Wise had. He practiced what he preached, doing whatever he could to make Elba a better place to live. He just didn't need anything if it couldn't be purchased locally, either off the shelf or on special order. He carried this devotion over to his family, or maybe his love for Elba was because of his family - and he often talked of the pride he had in his family. When Jimmy wasn't working in his store or doing some project for Elba, he could be found at home with his family. When Alabama was playing football, he would be rooting for the Tide and he had instilled this love into his children, so that this too was a family activity. Jimmy Wise died suddenly and unexpectedly Sunday. The shock and pain will be subtle, but the void he left will never be completely filled.

We don't have any idea what the freshly-passed co-employee bill means to the people of Alabama, but surely there is at least some improvement. We understand the maximum weekly disability payment has increased, but other than that, we really don't know. We were surprised that anything passed and are waiting to see if it really is a better situation than we already had in this state.

We would like to extend an invitation to each of you to brighten your day and visit some of the most wonderful people you will ever meet. My prayers are that all of you have a wonderful and prosperous New Year, because you are very "SPECIAL" people.

Dear Editor,
On Christmas Eve Pete had a traumatic accident and was rushed to Elba General Hospital. We are grateful for the treatment he received there, and we wish to publicly thank Dr. B.A. Santa Rosa, Mrs. Ellen Peterson, Mrs. Valerie Carrett and Mrs. Bernice Sasser. The diagnosis was that we needed to see a facial surgeon and Pete would have to be moved to Dothan. The hospital called for the Elba Rescue Squad to transport us and they came promptly.

As we stated before, this was Christmas Eve. These people left their families to render a volunteer service to us. We wish to publicly thank L.P. Hussey and Mr. Sonny Inman.

This accident made the third time we have needed the Elba Rescue Squad and Elba General Hospital and staff for emergency treatments. We are most grateful they are there ready to serve.

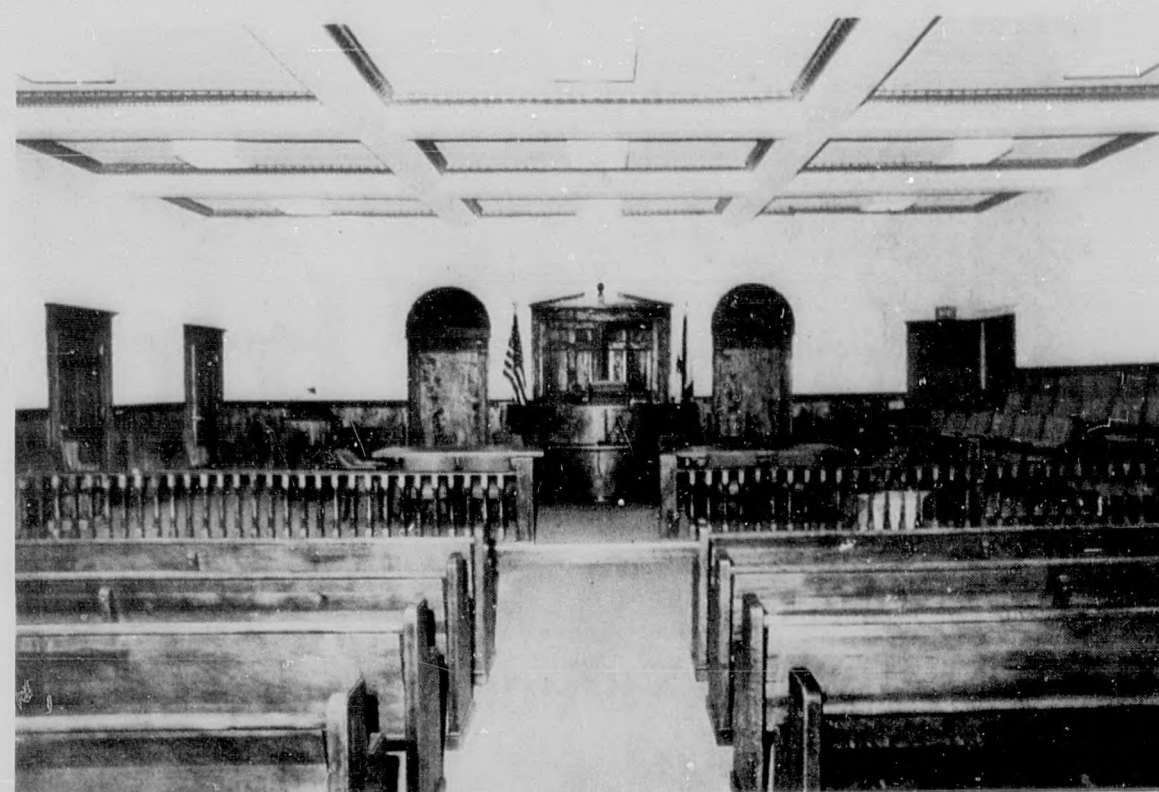

Sincerely,
PETE AND DIXIE DORSEY

Mrs. Virgil Raymond Rogers III

Conner — Rogers Wedding

First Methodist Church in Ozark was the site for the marriage of Miss Cynthia Jane Conner to Mr. Virgil Raymond Rogers III on Saturday, December 15, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by the father of the bride, Rev. Joe D. Conner. Scripture reading and prayer was offered by the pastor of the church, Rev. Asa Bozler.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Joe D. Conner of Auburn, Georgia. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Brady of Carl, Georgia, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Conner of Windsor, Georgia.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil R. Rogers Jr. of Elba. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rushing of Elba and Mrs. Bessie Rogers and the late Mr. Virgil R. Rogers Sr. of Orlando, Florida.

A program of nuptial music was presented by organist David Payne of Ozark. Soloist Brent Turnmire of Chattanooga, Tennessee, performed "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied on the piano by his wife, Terrie Turnmire, cousin of the bride.

The sanctuary, illuminated by candlelight, was beautifully decorated with greenery. The unity candle was placed in the altar area between the two ministers. The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, D. Stanley Miller of Carl, Georgia, was radiant in a satin gown designed and created by her and her mother. The bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline embellished with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The Juliette sleeves complemented the gown with seed pearls, Chantilly lace and ribbons. The long, flared skirt fell from a Basque waistline and extended into a chapel-length train. Appliques of Chantilly lace, seed pearls and ribbons adorned the gown.

The bride carried a cascade of silk and pink and white sweetheart roses, miniature carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath. A burgundy sweetheart rose centered her bouquet and was highlighted with streamers of matching Chantilly lace and ribbons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Conner wore a rose-hued floor-length gown. A delicately colored silk corsage accented her gown.

Mother of the groom, Mrs. Rogers, wore a floor-length purple-ecru gown highlighted and enhanced by seed pearls. Her corsage was elegantly arranged silk flowers.

Sharing in the honors of the parents, Mrs. D. Stanley (Jennie) Miller of Carl, Georgia, was seated with the mothers of the couple. Mrs. Miller wore the traditional mother's corsage.

The attending grandmothers were distinguished by beautiful corsages of silk white roses.

WHAT IS THAT IN THINE HAND?
Exodus 4:2

The story of Moses is a very familiar one. Everyone appreciates how Moses was able to lead the children of Israel out of Egypt and to bring them to the promised land. Moses was an outstanding leader, but he was not always convinced of this fact. When God called Moses, he was quite reluctant to go before Pharaoh. He had no confidence in himself. God used the incident of the rod that Moses carried to convince him that he could lead the children of Israel. God asked Moses, "What is that in thine hand?" His reply was, "A rod." In essence God was saying to Moses, "Use what you have to get the job done." There were to be many experiences when Moses did use his rod as he led the children of Israel toward Canaan: before Pharaoh; at the Red Sea; in getting water from the rock. He used this resource to get the job done. Man needs to heed those same words today. Many are unsure of their abilities, and hence do very little for the Lord. These need to hear the Lord say unto them, "What is that in thine hand?" Some think they have nothing with which to serve the Lord. Everyone has some things they can use in the Lord's work.

First: one's life is in his hand. He can use his life as a blessing or a curse. He can serve the Lord or he can serve Satan. Joshua had challenged the people to "choose ye this day whom ye will serve." He then added, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." Was the individual who comes to that place in life where he can say as Paul, "Lord, what wilt thou have me do?" No doubt, Paul's fruitful ministry was the result of his using his life completely for the Lord. He urged the Christians at Rome to "yield yourselves unto God... and your members as instruments of righteousness unto Him." Rom. 6:13.

Secondly: one's time is in his hand. He can squander it on trivial and useless things, or he can use it discreetly for the Lord, redeeming the time for the days are evil." (Eph. 5:16) Man needs to make sure he gets sixty seconds for every minute that passes.

Thirdly: one's talents are in his hand. God has given some talents and abilities that may be used to some way to serve Him and to help others. Man can selfishly use these to benefit only himself, or he can use these to bless himself and others. Ecclesiastes 9:10 instructs man to use his abilities well he can: " whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave where thou goest." There is an old cliché that says, "Use it or lose it." Surely, if one fails to use his abilities, he and those around him ultimately lose.

Fourthly: one's influence is in his hands. All men in some way influence the actions of others. Some affect those about them for good while some affect others adversely. Moses' life blessed those around him. His influence is still felt today in his writings. One needs to consider how his influence is used.

Lastly: one's possessions are in his hand. He may have much or little, but everyone has some possessions. He can use these to bless himself and those about him, or he may selfishly hold on to his possessions in such a way that they become a curse to himself and never a help to others. One man hoards everything he gets his hands on. In so doing, he makes his life miserable for himself and those around him. The Good Samaritan provides us a good example. He readily shared his life, his time, his talents, and even his possessions that he might minister to his fellowman in need. This is the kind of response that is needed today to those who are in need.

God expects Moses to use what he had in his mission — he expects the same of us today.

Zion Chapel Spanish Club Will Sell Buttons

BY: JANET STEWART

The construction and sale of buttons was the major item of business at the Spanish Club meeting held recently. The club members decided on the kinds and colors of the buttons they will make and sell.

The club will take orders for four kinds of buttons in January. They will be sold for $1.25 and $1.50 each, depending on the type.

The picture button is the only type that will be sold for $1.25. People wishing to order one will provide a picture or photograph to be placed in a button.

Spirit buttons will also be sold. Jimbo Bryan volunteered to draw pictures of the Rebel mascot and flag to be used for buttons. The class buttons will have the year of a student's graduation on it.

The Zion Chapel Rebels finished third in the Coffee County Tourney this past week. The Rebels and the Enterprise Wildcats drew the first game while the Rebels disposed of the Wildcats with Greg Flowers scoring twenty-three of his seventy-one tournament points.

The next game was dominated by the Kingston full-court press as the Rebels were upended 82 to 71. This put the Rebels in a fight for third place against county rival New Brockton.

This time the Rebels used excellent free-throw shooting to win unlike their previous game with Kingston, in which they shot less than 50% of their free-throws. Also this win avenged their earlier loss to New Brockton that broke the undefeated string of wins and pushed their record to 7-3 for the season.

FIRST GRADE KNOWS SANTA READ THE "CLIPPER" . . . On returning to school on January 3 a REBEL NEWS roving reporter checked out the student body to see just how good Santa Claus had been to our students. Or maybe that should be "how good our students were for the last year?" Some mighty happy people were found in the first grade. They were now sure that Santa Claus reads THE ELBA CLIPPER because their letters to him were printed there the week before Christmas.

There were baby dolls, Stomper trucks and guns all across Mrs. Herberts room. And each child had goodies to eat, too.

Each child was then loaded up with his presents and goodies for the bus and escorted by a Beta Club member to the bus.

SPORTS

Views From

The Pressbox

By, Ricky Mularz, Editor

Last week was a very slow week for area sports as most schools were still on vacation. Oh well, I guess it's time to just sit back and let my mind wander.

Elba's county championship in basketball is still a little hard to believe, until you stop and look at the players on the team and realize they have always won, no matter what the sport! The nucleus of the team was on the 1983 junior team that won the Region and advanced to state in basketball. Then last season pilled-up wins on the B team. This group also posted a 4-2 record in junior high football and has played a big part in the varsity's 18-4 record over the past two years. Yep, these guys are a group of winners.

The South East Alabama Conference will hold its annual basketball tournament this week and I look for the county schools to dominate the 7-team event. Red Level is the top seed, but I'll have to pick Kinston as the favorite, while Zion Chapel and New Brockton both have good chances to win the title. The semi-finals will be tonight (Thursday), so, if you're looking for something to do why not go down to Kinston and see two good games.

I don't watch a lot of TV, but last Saturday I had absolutely nothing planned and pulled out the TV GUIDE to see what was on. Well, since we've got the expanded cable system it took a while to look up all the channels; however, it was worth the look, because from 12:00 (noon) until 12:00 (midnight) there was wall-to-wall college basketball. Included among the games were Alabama-Georgia, Duke-Virginia, Kentucky-North Carolina, Houston - Texas, Ga. Tech - Wake Forest, UAB - DePaul, and a replay State of Minnesota - Purdue. I didn't watch 'em all, but it sure was nice to have a choice.

I said last week that I didn't care who won the Super Bowl, because Oakland, Dallas and Washington had already been beaten. I'm still not going to get upset, whoever wins, but I'll have to pull for the Dolphins.

I was shocked and deeply saddened Sunday to learn of the death of Jimmy Wise. My family lived next door to the Wise's before moving out of state and I've always felt close to Jimmy, Shirley and their three children. Jimmy was a active businessman and city father, yet he always found time to support his children in all their endeavors and was especially active in sports. I'll always remember Jimmy sitting behind the fence at baseball games or outside the fence at football practice, supporting everyone involved. I'll miss him, and I pray that God will be with his family during these sad times.

Zion Chapel Thumps G.W. Long 87-61

The Zion Chapel Rebels pulled out to an early 17-2 lead and never looked back in rolling to an easy 87-61 win over the G.W. Long Rebels, last Thursday night at Zion Chapel.

Greg Flowers poured-in 6 quick points to give Zion Chapel an early 6-2 lead and hit his fifth basket with 3:26 left in the opening stanza as the Rebels' lead went to 14-2. Zion Chapel pulled out to a commanding 35-12 lead with 6:16 left in the half and it looked like a "Rebel blow-out," however, Coach Mike Lindsey emptied the bench and G.W. Long battled the reserves on even terms to keep the score respectable at the half.

Zion Chapel's starters re-entered the game to open the second half and upped the lead to 64-32 with 4:37 left in the third quarter, but the scoring spree put the score out of reach and the starters returned to the bench to watch the rest of the game. The Rebel reserves came in ready to play and behind the play of Kenny Ray Evans continued to pull away, opening up an 81-39 lead with 7:01 left in the game. The play got ragged in the closing minutes and Long staged a rally, but Zion Chapel held on for the easy 87-61 win.

Kenny Ray Evans scored 16 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead Zion Chapel, while Greg Flowers added 16 points, including 12 in the first quarter.

Goodman Eagles Celebrate Homecoming With Exciting 77-64 Win Over Zion Chapel

The Goodman Eagles gave a large homecoming crowd plenty to cheer about Monday night as they rallied late in the game to dump the Zion Chapel Junior High Rebels 77-64.

The win upped Goodman's record to 8-2, while Zion Chapel fell to 2-5 with the loss.

Zion Chapel pulled out to a quick 4-2 lead in the opening stanza, but Goodman sneaked ahead 6-4 with 5:03 left in the quarter as Tim Wallace got hot outside.

The Eagles went to a pressing defense after taking the lead and took advantage of turnovers and the shooting of Bobby Joe and Marty Myers to open up a 21-8 lead with 1:54 left.

The Rebels went to a press late in the quarter and pulled within 23-16 going into the second stanza; however, Goodman took charge early in the stanza and took a 30-20 lead with 5:27 left in the half when Marty Myers hit from the corner. Zion Chapel again rallied and, led by the play of Scotty Lee and Angelo Cole, reeled off 12 straight points to take a 32-30 lead with 2:08 left in the quarter.

Both teams battled furiously in the closing minutes of the stanza, and at halftime the score was tied at 36-36.

Zion Chapel grabbed a 40-36 lead early in the third quarter on two buckets by Angelo Cole, but Jeffery Davis got hot outside and Goodman stormed back to move out to a 52-46 lead late in the stanza.

Goodman held a slim 56-54 lead with 4:08 left in the game, but stretched the lead to 64-58 with 3:31 left, as Marty Myers continued his hot shooting from the outside. Myers added three points on a basket and a free-throw to give the Eagles a 67-58 lead with 2:09 left, and Goodman held on to post the 77-64 win.

Bobby Joe Myers scored 22 points to lead Goodman, while Cary Gouge added 13, and Marty Myers and Jeffery Davis scored 12 apiece. Angelo Cole scored 22 for Zion Chapel, while Scotty Lee added 19 and Terry Dease scored 13.

PROBLEM ZIPPERS

Proper care of zippers will help prevent problems with ones that are stubborn or sticking.

Here are some tips for zipper care. Always close zippers after a garment is worn and make sure it is closed before washing.

For zippers that stick, try rubbing the teeth or coil with beeswax, candlewax, or a zipper lubricant. Keep frayed seam edges repaired so that loose threads will not get caught in the zipper.

SEW FOR THE $500 LOOK

This is the title of a three hour seminar on sewing which will be February 12 at 6:30 p.m. at Enterprise State Junior College in room FA 110. Deadline for registration is February 4. Reserved seats assigned on first come basis as registrations are received. For registration forms, call me at 894-5596 or call ESJC at 347-0650.

You will not want to miss this program for Clotilda, the sewing expert, will emphasize designer techniques including professional stitching and top-stitching techniques, sleeve and zipper applications, shaping collars and selection of the right interfacing.
